

6516209750.txt

At the urging of what seems to be a legion of passionate XM radio listeners, I, along with these others, request that the service provided to us at our own expense not be regulated beyond reason. The advantageous nature of a satellite radio expands the possibility of people sharing music, news, comedy, and culture. For these contributions to public awareness. In light of their desire to fulfill the people's needs, XM deserves gratitude, not condemnation and limitation.